Today's banking executive must remain relevant in the industry by refining their knowledge and leadership skills. The Graduate School of Banking at LSU has developed this brochure for individuals considering our banking school. Inside this brochure, we list 9 important reasons for banking executives to attend GSBLSU.

By applying the applications and skillsets learned at GSBLSU, banking executives will be armed with the essential leadership and managerial skills necessary for fast paced advancement within the banking sector.

1. Tradition

For 70 years, GSBSU has been a major provider of advanced financial education in the United States.

2. Proven Track Record OF Success

Over 16,000 Executives have successfully completed the program. Executives at multi-billion dollar financial institutions as well as community banks find the school's curriculum addressed the educational needs of students.

3. Experience OF OUR Faculty

The faculty of the Graduate School of Banking consists of experienced bankers, academicians, regulatory officials, attorneys and others who have expert knowledge of their subject areas and who have the ability to teach other professionals. Approximately 51 faculty members teach at the school, and some have been associated with the program for many years. Faculty and courses are critically evaluated to assure that banker-students receive the best possible professional education.

4. Committed TO YOUR Personal Growth AND Development

Over 16,000 Executives have successfully completed the program. Executives at multi-billion dollar financial institutions as well as community banks find the school's curriculum addressed the educational needs of students.

5. Real World Learning

The faculty focus on teaching real world applications, so that executives can apply this newfound knowledge directly into their current positions at their respective banks. Whether it is case studies, bank simulations, or bank study projects, our sessions strive to utilize the most current and relevant applications for our students. Our bank study projects take place between resident sessions, and are an integral part of the School's comprehensive program.

6. Location AND Facilities

GSBLSU host its' sessions on the beautiful campus of Louisiana State University. Students have access to the athletic and recreation facilities, as well as an 18 hole golf course, swimming pools, tennis courts, and much more.

7. Knowledge

In today's competitive environment, a successful career does not come with a guarantee. To succeed in today's banking world, banking officers need the wisdom and expertise that comes from perception and insight, an astute ability to discover, discern, and decide. It is this type of knowledge that GSBSU has been offering to experienced banking officers for 70 years.

8. Networking

The value of relationships developed among fellow bankers during the GSBSU program is immeasurable. The communication and connectivity that has occurred between executives at the sessions proves to be vital in the professional development of the banking executives.

9. M.B.A. Credit

Bankers completing the Graduate School of Banking at LSU may enroll in professional MBA programs at several universities and receive graduate credit for their work at the banking school. The programs have no residence requirements and may be completed on-line.
