STEVEN A. DAVIS
Fire Chief of the City of Madison Fire Department

Fire Chief Steven A. Davis has served the City of Madison since 1989. Prior to being appointed Fire Chief in 2012, Davis held positions within the Department as Firefighter, Paramedic, Training Officer, Fire Lieutenant and Division Fire Chief of Training.

Chief Davis earned an Associate's Degree in Fire Science from Madison Area Technical College and a Bachelor's of Science Degree from Columbia Southern University. Chief Davis is a State of Wisconsin Certified Fire Instructor and has developed many training programs locally, as well as district-wide. He also has been involved with Lake Rescue, the Hazardous Incident Team, and the Heavy Urban Rescue team.

Chief Davis is a PADI Divemaster and was the former Lake Rescue Team coordinator, as well as an original member of the Department's Technical Rescue team.