General Considerations for Basketball

Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association (PIAA)

National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS)

Sports Medicine Advisory Committee (SMAC)

The NFHS has determined that basketball is a moderate risk sport (sports that involve close, sustained contact, but with protective equipment in place that may reduce the likelihood of respiratory particle transmission between participants OR intermittent close contact OR group sports OR sports that use equipment that can't be cleaned between participants).

BASKETBALL RULE CONSIDERATIONS:

- Limit attendees to the referee, head coach, and one captain from each team with each coach standing on the center circle on each side of the division line.
- All individuals maintain a social distance of 6 feet or greater at the center circle.
- Suspend handshakes prior to and following the Pregame Conference.

○ Team Benches (1-13-1)

- Social distancing should be practiced when possible. Below are some suggestions.

Limit the number of bench personnel to observe social distancing of 6 feet or greater.

Place team benches opposite the spectator seating.

Additional chairs or rows may be added to allow bench personnel to observe social distancing of 6 feet or greater.

Create separation between the team bench and spectator seating behind the bench.

Limit contact between players when substituting.

- Substitutes shall report to the scorer's table but in the event there is more than one substitution, they may sit at the end of the scores table closest to their bench to maintain social distancing.

Coaches and Athletes should adhere to the current Pennsylvania Secretary of the Department of Health Order of July 1, 2020.

PA Coach-

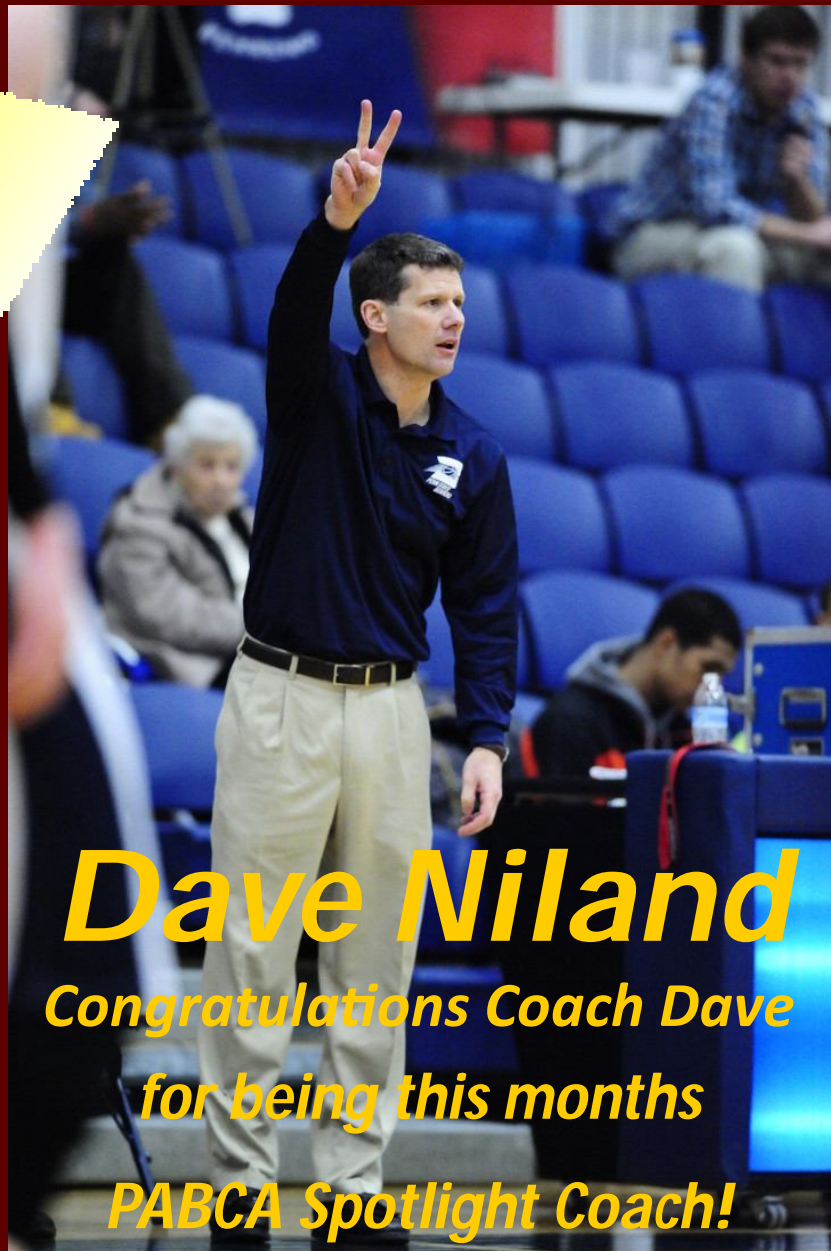

Penn State Behrend head men's basketball coach Dave Niland enters his 27th season guiding the Behrend Lions program. Niland has produced 26 consecutive winning seasons to rank 20th among NCAA Division III programs for winningest teams of the decade. The Lions also have earned an NCAA or ECAC postseason bid in 24 of the past 25 years. Niland is the all-time leader in men's basketball coaching victories with 515 entering this season.

The Lions have advanced to the NCAA Tournament eight times and has made 14 appearances in the ECAC South Region Tournament, winning the title in 1998-99 and 2009-10.

Niland has been named the AMCC Coach of the Year seven times— a league and college record. His teams have won seven regular-season league titles and six conference tournament championships. In 2008-09, the men's basketball team forged a record of 18-10 and earned its third ECAC Tournament bid. The previous year, Niland led the Behrend Lions to an impressive 24-5 record, as the team captured the regular-season AMCC championship and the conference tournament before eventually falling in the second round of the NCAA Tournament in Rochester, New York. That squad's defensive prowess was recognized for the second time in four seasons, as Behrend led Division III in scoring defense, limiting the opposition to a measly 54.6 points per game.

PA Coach-

During the 2006-07 season, Niland's team posted an impressive 21-8 mark and advanced to the ECAC Southern Region Tournament Championship Game. The year before, coach Niland's program received the Schoenfeld Award, the highest honor the Collegiate Basketball Officials Association (COBA) bestows each year. This coveted award is presented to the team identified as having "the highest degree of sportsmanship, character, and ethics among their players, coaches and spectators."

His 2003-04 team led all of Division III in scoring defense and posted a 22-3 record entering the NCAA Tournament. The 1999-2000 team had the best season in school history, setting the school record for wins with 26 while advancing to the NCAA Elite Eight—the first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance for men's basketball. Also, in 1998-99, his squad earned the ECAC Southern Region Championship.

Niland came to Behrend after spending four seasons as an assistant coach at Canisius College and one season at Elmira College. He was a four-year letterman and captain during his senior year as a basketball standout at LeMoyne College. He earned his master's degree in physical education from Canisius and is now also a lecturer in health and physical education at Penn State Behrend.

Dealing With Parents

by Rick Bell

We started having mandatory parents/players meetings in the 1990's after I heard Marquette's Coach Al McGuire speak at a clinic. He asked how many of us had problems with parents, and almost everyone raised their hand. He asked how many of us had a meeting with the parents before the season explaining YOUR expectations for THEIR behavior. No one raised their hand. Coach McGuire said, "I do not feel sorry for any of you." We have had a meeting every year since that clinic.

I sent a letter to every parent, our administration, and our school board inviting them to the meeting. I invited the administration and the school board so they could be a part of the process, because many parents will go over your head to them and I would rather they heard first from me. Remember, be proactive, not reactive. I would also ask the parents to contact me directly if they would not attend the meeting. If they did not, but approached me during the season I would tell them that we discussed that at the meeting and that they did not contact me so I would not discuss it now.

At the meeting we discussed team rules that the players and parents had to sign and return to me. We discussed that playing time was earned and not negotiated. We discussed the difference between role and status. Not everyone has the same role, but they all have the same status. We reminded them that the players had at least 160 free opportunities to improve during our offseason and preseason programs. We discussed multiple sport athletes. We discussed that if a parent ever requested a meeting that the meeting would include our entire coaching staff and their son. We discussed the "outside noise." We discussed how I deal with the media. I told the parents that our practices were open, we had nothing to hide, but if they attended DO NOT coach. In 31 years, not one ever attended. Finally, we discussed my relationship with and the role of the booster group.

As I stated in the title, I truly believe the key is to be proactive and not reactive. I was a head coach at two different high schools in the suburbs of Pittsburgh and I could count on one hand the number of major issues I ever had with a parent.

Monique has also been the head coach for two AAU travel teams; Mid-Atlantic Heat 16u (2010- 2011) and PA Running Rebels 15u (2012-13). While coaching these winning organizations against the nation’s best talent she strove to consistently bring out the best in her players while providing exposure to some of the best college programs in the United States. Monique believes strongly in giving back to her community and in 2011, when she became aware that the local P.A.L. in Darby, PA had fallen apart, Monique created the “Jump-Start” basketball league at the Darby Recreation Center providing a fun and competitive basketball league for children and young adults.
