LEADING RELIABILITY

virtual conference JULY 16 2020

THE FUTURE IS HERE.

Leading Reliability is a virtual conference showcasing revolutionary new technologies and best practices in the reliability industry. Hosted by industry leaders for industry leaders, learn from and network with some of the biggest names in the reliability world. Join us for this free virtual conference to see groundbreaking discoveries that will change your organization and expert advice to prepare your manufacturing facilities for whatever the future holds.

WORLD-CLASS LEADERSHIP

With hundreds of years of experience and innovation in the reliability industry, our speakers have the knowledge and expertise to help take your organization to the next level. These industry leaders thrive on helping your organization increase uptime, deploy new technologies, streamline your planning and scheduling, bring effective IoT implementation to your facility, focus on cybersecurity, and so much more.

The future is interesting. Most years we are laser focused on growth and scale, and some years, as we know all too well, are about cost savings and closures. Manufacturing is critical to a booming economy, and we have the ability to future proof operations to ensure success in every type of market. Over 2 days, we will cover a wealth of topics to help you future proof your manufacturing operations by hearing from best in class industry experts on topics critical to keeping your operations running and thriving in any environment.

Topics Include:

- Planning and Scheduling
- Connectivity
- Advanced Sensor Options
- Operator Care
- Cybersecurity
- Hiring and Recruiting New Talent
- Grooming the Next Generation of Reliability Experts
