EXPERIENCE

Darren Leins is an executive building consultant with a diverse background of experience as a property claims professional, estimator, and project manager in the residential, commercial, and civil construction industries spanning over 23 years. While working in these capacities, Darren has overseen and been the lead on complex, multi-million dollar property insurance claims. These include wind, water, fire, hail, and builders risk losses to commercial, governmental, industrial, institutional, multi-family residential, and high-value residential structures.

As a project manager, Darren has managed and overseen all phases and aspects of high-profile construction projects ranging from private sector clients to governmental entities.
