Printware is proud to announce the launch of their new website!

St. Paul, MINNESOTA – May 1, 2021 - Printware, a division of Vanguard Graphics, is the manufacturer, supplier, and supporter of the iJetColor digital inkjet envelope print systems and the legacy Platestream brand CtP Technology. Printware is excited to announce the launch of their new and improved website! Printware recognizes their website as an important tool to provide resources for customers and has worked hard to deliver a new site that is easier to navigate, has faster, optimized mobile browsing, improved video performance, and increased browsing security. In addition to these updates, www.printwarellc.com continues to offer tools and information about their legacy brand, Platestream, in addition to customer testimonial videos, access to support, training videos, technical bulletins, and supply ordering.

“We are excited to launch a new website for our operating company, Printware, to continue to make information about our legacy brand Platestream available to our customers, while also offering a better, more modern, browsing experience,” commented Tim Murphy, President of Printware.

The web address for the new iJetColor site will not change.
