

Litigation Work Representative Examples

North American Construction Management Firm: Created and implemented a custom workflow driven by Relativity Assisted Review specifically tailored to meet the client's deadline of reviewing half a million documents produced by opposing counsel within a three-month timeframe.

Large University: Partnered with the law firm to complete a managed document review within the e-discovery tool Catalyst, creating a prioritized review workflow focused on bringing the documents most likely to be highly responsive to the matter to the front of the review queue.

Multinational Energy Corporation: Provided a project plan and resources for the review to be completed within the timeframe requested and assisted with the creation of a review protocol to guide the team's review, leveraging extensive managed review experience using Relativity to efficiently deploy a team on the matter.

UK-based Financial Services Firm: Recommended and utilized an AI eDiscovery tool to assist with the categorization of potentially privileged documents, allowing the client to focus on the rich data without spending time learning how to effectively deploy the technology.

Healthcare Technology & Information Provider: Coordinated closely with the client's attorneys and litigation support team to maximize the efficiency of its predictive coding technology.

Litigation Work Representative Examples

American Multinational Manufacturer of Food Service Equipment: Leveraged a combination of subject matter expertise and technology expertise to strategize and deploy AI/analytics to reduce the initial review population from 10,000 documents to less than 3,000 inclusive emails for the team to review.

Global Fortune 500 Professional Services Company: Worked with the eDiscovery tool and the law firm to develop a technology-driven managed review workflow to accurately identify critical technical documents related to the data breach at hand.

Second-largest Provider of Non-hazardous Solid Waste Collection: Reviewed documents for relevancy, privilege, hot, confidentiality, need for redaction, and 15 issue codes.

Investment Management Consulting Company: Partnered with the client's law firm to use a continuous active learning (CAL) system within Relativity to bring relevant documents to the forefront of the review.

Multinational Telecommunications & Data Networking Equipment Manufacturer: Experienced project managers worked closely with the client's lawyers in the U.S. and Canada to maximize the review's efficiency and meet the strict deadlines imposed by bankruptcy courts.