

by GenAlpha Technologies

This Checklist is Aimed at Maximizing Your Aftermarket Potential

While important, there is much more than just an aftermarket strategy to consider when looking to increase aftermarket business as a manufacturer or dealer. The road to a successful aftermarket business requires multiple areas of your organization working together, including finance, supply chain, marketing, information technology and sales.

Want to learn more?

Download Our Free Data Sheet

GenAlpha Technologies Latest Blog Posts

October 8th, 2020

Five Ways for Manufacturers to Improve Conversion Rates

The process of converting traffic to sales depends on several factors including the usefulness of your product, the pricing of your product, and overall quality of the traffic to your site...Read more

October 1st, 2020

Five Crucial eCommerce Metrics for Manufacturers

A business cannot adjust or make improvements without having a solid process of communicating and objectively reviewing performance...Read more

September 15th, 2020

Evaluating Your Pricing Management Strategy

To determine the efficacy of your pricing management strategy, there are several criteria which must be evaluated. These criteria should be evaluated as part of an eCommerce project plan...Read more

September 2nd, 2020

Evaluating Knowledge of eCommerce Audience

A manufacturer will need to determine how well they know their audience in order to understand how to sell to them more effectively...Read more

We're ready to show you how Equip increases parts sales through a simplified ordering process, expanded market reach, and 24/7 order capture availability.

Request an Equip Demo Today

Related Articles

B2B eCommerce is Complex. Smooth it Out With Live Chat

Once overlooked in B2B digital strategies, optimized customer experiences are a must-have for companies looking to convert and engage with customers in today's world...Read more

The Team Members You Need for eCommerce Success

If there's one thing we know by now, it's that eCommerce is a team sport. When you consider all of the moving pieces that need to come together to deliver sales and conversions online, it makes sense to imagine a group of people working cross-functionally to make it all happen...Read more

The Dawn of Corona-Free Payments, or Why Consumers Need Contactless Payments Now

Our world is now one where people are thinking about what they're touching. Who touched that before me, and what were all of their touch points leading up to it? Even as we go back into stores and restaurants, we don't want to be touching anything we don't have to...Read more

GenAlpha Technologies Latest News

October 13th, 2020

GenAlpha Releases New Analytics Dashboard, Equip Insights

Equip Insights will provide customers with increased business intelligence and automation that will support elevated revenues, customer loyalty, and overall performance...Read more

September 21st, 2020

MSTS Partners with GenAlpha's Equip

GenAlpha has partnered with Genius ERP to offer their customers within manufacturing a complete eCommerce and ERP solution that is used across North America...Read more

Share our newsletter with your colleagues or on social media!

