

Breastfeeding

SUPPORT GROUP

Please join us in this private, online group where moms can connect with and support one another in their breastfeeding journey. All sorts of breastfeeding topics will be discussed—this is a safe space to ask your questions and share your concerns. We will all work together, kindly and respectfully, to create a support system for sharing information and encouragement.

Breastfeeding Support leads to Breastfeeding Success!

This group is not a substitute for professional 1:1 advice. Lactation support is always available through Logansport Memorial Hospital, and this support group should not take the place of any one-on-one support that you might need. The office is open Monday through Thursday from 8 am—4:30 pm. Other hours will be available on an as needed basis. Please call the LMH Lactation Office and a lactation consultant will return your call to set up a time that works best for you.
