

CONSULTANCY SERVICES

You may be working from home, but you don't need to work alone. Our teams are on hand every day, as your trusted experts, to help solve problems and support change. Just some of the services that we can deliver with you remotely are outlined over the page.

Providing housing experts at the tips of your fingers

Pennington Choices is a unique, multi-disciplinary organisation with demonstrable experience of delivering services from both a client and contractor perspective.

All of our consultancy services are delivered by our experienced and expert consultants who have held executive and leadership roles in large and diverse housing providers and the public and commercial sectors.

We also have in-house technical advisors from fire, gas, electrical, water and asbestos backgrounds; as well as property finance, asset, digital and organisational change specialists.

Providing security and added value to our clients through remote working

We are delivering all of our consultancy services remotely, ensuring clients continue to make progress with strategic priorities and helping to solve new problems as they emerge.

Our Cyber Essentials accreditation ensures remote working practices are secure at all times. Our cloud based web portal and data sharing platform, Pennington Workspace, is provided free of charge to clients and can be used as an information repository for an infinite amount of time beyond the length of the services we will provide.

Video meeting software means we can provide faceto-face support to you, whenever you need it.

It is not just about the technology though. Our consultants are skilled and experienced at facilitating workshops, briefings and group interviews, as well as one-to-one meetings. We know how to ger the best out of remote sessions and provide the outcomes that you need.

What our clients have said

"If you are serious about compliance, I would highly recommend working with Pennington Choices to any organisation that is looking to achieve total compliance and greater assurance around tenant safety; as they will not be beaten for their expertise, quality and value for money." - Gareth Rigby, Executive Director at Weaver Vale Housing Trust.

"The Pennington Choices team is consistent in delivering excellent outcomes on time, every time. They have been instrumental in helping us deliver, and evidence assurance on all aspects of our asset compliance, and have given helpful advice on many aspects." - Suzanne Wolfe, CEO - Industrial Dwellings Society (IDS).

"The compliance health check was an excellent way to see how we were performing across all areas of compliance. The quality of the report clearly demonstrated the level of knowledge and expertise available within Pennington Choices and has been invaluable in raising the profile of health and safety across the organisation." - Matt Roberts, Director of Asset Management and Development at Wigan and Leigh Homes.
