

How innovation saved Christmas

edison365

T'was the lead up to Christmas and at the North Pole
Santa was struggling, his mind out control
Rapid change needed to happen as disruption had hit
The workshop was in chaos, but toy production couldn't quit
With elves and reindeer alike remote or isolating
Not having their voices heard was getting quite frustrating
To overcome this sudden disruption
Santa knew he needed ideas to power toy production
On edison365, he posed his problems
With sight of all suggestions, hope began to blossom
Rudolph said a new sleigh would make toy delivery fast
Mrs Claus knew how to make the workshop safe at last Santa triaged the ideas, and built an actionable plan
He could see every idea and challenge with a simple scan
Built for Microsoft 365, he could easily share any feedback
Powered by edison365, Santa put Christmas back on track.
