CDN Publishing Partners with American Numismatic Association on eLearning Academy Online Education
Partnership enables ANA to continue offering free classes to collectors

CDN Publishing, purveyor of print and online numismatic publications such as the Greysheet, CPG Market Review and CAC Rare Coin Market Review, is partnering with the American Numismatic Association (money.org) to ensure the ANA eLearning Academy webinar series remains viable and free of charge to all collectors.

Launched in late June 2020, the ANA eLearning Academy (info.money.org/elearning) offers collectors 20 to 24 online courses per quarter. Topics are designed to appeal to a range of numismatic interests. The one- and two-hour classes have been hugely popular, with an average of 2,000 class registrations per month.

CDN's flagship publication, the monthly Greysheet (greysheet.com), joins the Association as the Official ANA eLearning Academy Partner beginning April 1. According to John Feigenbaum, Publisher of CDN Publishing, Greysheet was established with the mission of providing accurate, unbiased pricing for the coin industry, and has been a trusted source of information for collectors, investors and dealers since 1963.

"We believe that supporting the ANA and the ANA eLearning Academy are among the most important opportunities we have to foster education and learning within the hobby," says Feigenbaum. "We appreciate this opportunity to help educate the next generation of collectors."

The American Numismatic Association is a congressionally chartered, nonprofit educational organization dedicated to encouraging the study and collection of coins and related items. The ANA helps its 28,000-plus members and the public discover and explore the world of money through its vast array of educational and outreach programs, as well as its museum, library, publications and conventions.
