IN THE HUB OF TECH INNOVATION

Known for its government-funded start-ups, healthy venture capital market and millions of dollars worth of investments made from major tech companies, Toronto is one of the world's top cities to work in tech. Having climbed its way up the tech talent ladder in recent years, the Canadian city is now recognized as the third-largest tech market in North America with 215,000+ workers in the industry. As more and more global companies continue to invest in Toronto, it's easy to see why professionals continue to be attracted to the city as a place to build their tech careers.

GLOBAL GIANT GOOGLE JOINS THE WATERFRONT'S REVITALIZATION

In early 2020, Google announced that one of its three new offices on Canadian soil would be located on Toronto's eastern waterfront, just a seven-minute drive from Quay House at 65 King Street East. In line with the area's next generation of technological development and sustainability, the Google office will feature over 18,000 sq.ft. of outdoor terraces and bike stalls, over 10,000 sq.ft. of public retail space and over 40,000 sq.ft. of office space across 18 floors. Their office is expected to be complete in 2022 and bring 5,000 new jobs to the area.

TRANSFORMING THE WAY WE WORK: THE WATERFRONT INNOVATION CENTRE

Now under construction on Toronto's east end, the Waterfront Innovation Centre is a cutting-edge project that will lead the next wave of commercial office development by creating an environment that sustains and prioritizes creativity, collaboration and community, and be as useful for recreation as it is for production.

Part of the renewal of Toronto's waterfront and an answer to the city's rapidly evolving creative and technology sectors, the Waterfront Innovation Centre will include built-in workshops and lab spaces for productivity, as well as direct fiber connection that can achieve speeds as fast as one terabyte per second. The centre's smart design also includes sustainability goals, with green roofs and reflective high-albedo surfaces, multiple outdoor terraces for lounging, geothermal heating, purposeful solar orientation and reduced mechanical systems.

Upon completion, the Waterfront Innovation Centre will blend seamlessly into Toronto's revitalized waterfront and is projected to create approximately 40,000 new jobs.

PROUD OF OUR HISTORY

We believe in careful consideration and in strategically making business decisions based on solid rationale and vast experience. Starting in 1993 as a homebuilder but long before as one of Canada's largest excavating companies, our knowledge of the construction and the development industry runs deep.

After years of slowly growing our footprint we can proudly say that we are in two countries, six regions, 81 communities and have built more than 20,000 homes over the past 25 years. Our team is close to 900 and we have five regional offices spanning Toronto, Ontario; Houston, Austin, San Antonio, Texas; and Atlanta, Georgia. By growing slowly, we have been able to maintain the family owned and operated feel that's grounded by our core values. As one of North America's largest private homebuilders, our goal is to continue to grow, innovate and create some of the best communities to live in.
