

Emles @Home ETF

LIV

Fund Objective

The Emles @Home ETF (LIV) seeks investment results that correspond, before fees and expenses, to the price and yield performance of the Emles Home Lifestyle Index, an index comprised of companies that substantially focus on, and could benefit from, the trend of increased and diverse home activities.

Key Features

Opportunity

While working from home was a gradually evolving trend, we are now witnessing an expedited and holistic shift in lifestyle — where we work, consume, educate, entertain, exercise, and spend substantially more time at home via a digital, virtually connected infrastructure. We believe this is a long term, structural shift and home-oriented companies could potentially benefit from this trend.

Portfolio

The Emles @Home ETF (LIV) provides investors access to high quality companies that potentially stand to benefit from this structural shift towards home-based lifestyle.

- Managed by an experienced investment and portfolio management team with a track record of innovation
- Tracks a thoughtfully designed proprietary index that offers broad exposure to the home-living theme
- Invests in a portfolio of quality companies with high return potential

Outcome

LIV seeks to provide return potential through exposure to home-oriented companies. Complement or diversify your core equity exposure with the Emles @Home ETF (LIV).

Performance quoted represents past performance. Past performance is not a guarantee or a reliable indicator of future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than performance shown. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate, so that Fund shares may be worth more or less than their original cost when sold. Performance data current to the most recent month-end is available at www.emles.com or by calling +1 (833) 673-2661. You cannot invest directly in an index. Shares are bought and sold at market price (closing price), not net asset value (NAV), and are not individually redeemed from the Fund. Market performance is determined using the bid/ask midpoint at 4:00pm Eastern Time when the NAV is typically calculated. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns.

Investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. ETFs trade like stocks, are subject to investment risk, fluctuate in market value and may trade at prices above or below the ETFs net asset value. Small and mid-capitalization companies may be more vulnerable to adverse business or economic events than larger, more established companies. Investments in foreign securities may involve risks such as social and political instability, market illiquidity, exchange-rate fluctuations, a high level of volatility and limited regulation. Events or conditions in one region or financial market may adversely impact issuers in a different country, region or financial market. Global events such as the current novel coronavirus (COVID-19), terrorist attacks, natural disasters, social and political discord or debt crises and downgrades, among others, may result in market volatility and have long term effects on both the U.S. and global financial markets. The Fund may invest a significant portion of its assets in the consumer discretionary sector, which can be significantly affected by, among other things, economic growth, worldwide demand, social trends, consumers' disposable income levels, and propensity to spend. The Fund is non-diversified, which means that it may invest more of its assets in the securities of a single issuer or a smaller number of issuers than if it were a diversified fund. As a result, the Fund may be more exposed to the risks affecting an individual issuer or a smaller number of issuers than a fund that invests more widely. This may increase the Fund's volatility and cause the performance of a relatively smaller number of issuers to have a greater impact on the Fund's performance. The Fund is not actively managed and would only sell shares of an equity security if that security is removed from the Index or the Index is rebalanced. Please see the prospectus for details of these and other risks.
