Eradicate human trafficking from your platform with Spectrum + DeliverFund

Solutions to Counter Human Trafficking

Human traffickers use popular online communities to find and recruit new victims, the first step toward exploitation. They also use online communities to advertise victims. With the passage of FOSTA-SESTA in 2018, platforms are legally responsible to stop enabling human trafficking.

The problem affects all online communities, and its scale exceeds what moderators can manage, making it difficult for normal moderation tools to detect human traffickers online.

Spectrum Labs has partnered with DeliverFund, experts in counter human trafficking. DeliverFund has the largest database of known human traffickers, and works with OASIS Consortium to develop brand and user safety standards.

Powered by DeliverFund's database of known traffickers, Spectrum helps platforms identify known human traffickers and remove them. This prevents traffickers from finding new victims, stopping the process from the start. Spectrum customers can confirm that with DeliverFund, no known human traffickers are in their user database, and update this monthly or quarterly.

Spectrum also detects human trafficking activities like CSAM Grooming and Sex Solicitation, so communities can take action against them.
