

Expert Technical Advisors. Better Business Outcomes.

The expertise you need to tackle today's cyber threats... at scale

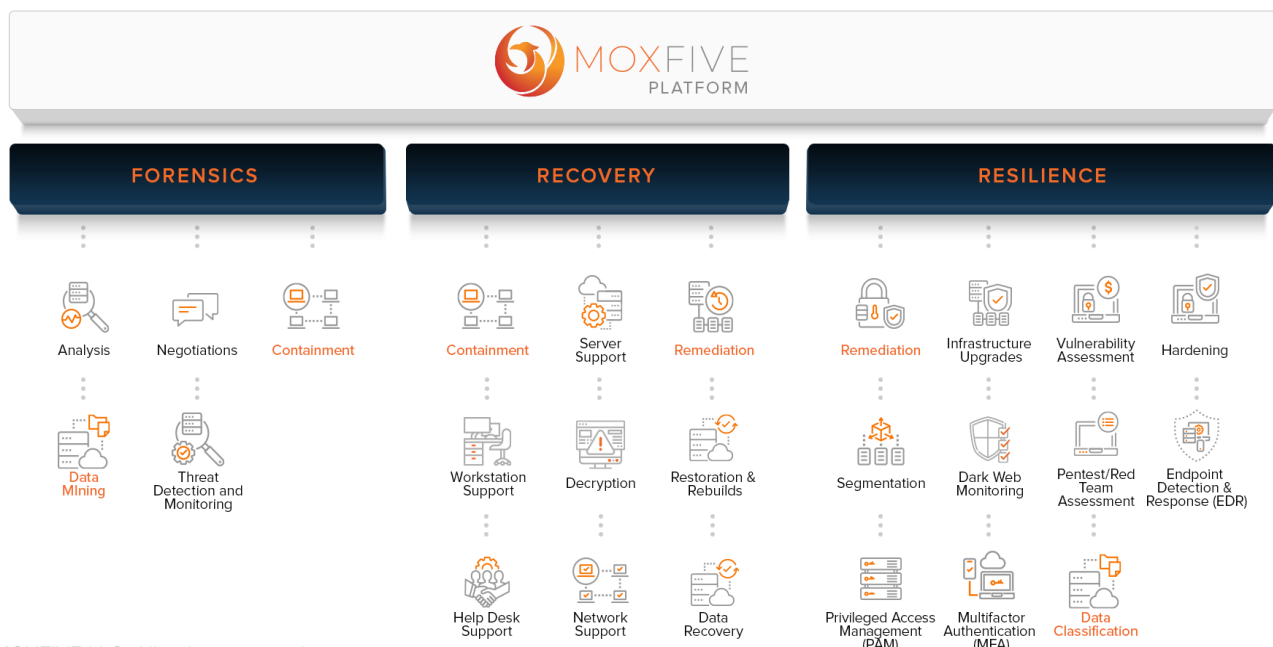

At MOXFIVE, solving problems is who we are and what we do. Our mission is to minimize the business impact of cyber attacks and be that “go-to” technical resource for our clients - whether before, during or after an incident.

Our Technical Advisors have managed and led many of the most prominent security investigations in the world and can quickly assess any situation to determine the most efficient and cost-effective response strategy. Through our platform approach, MOXFIVE provides the technical expertise and guidance needed to navigate through the incident response process.

We also work with our clients to improve their IT infrastructure’s resilience against cyber attacks and identify the technologies needed to tangibly improve their risk profile. We make recommendations based on our in-the-trenches experience - not vendor incentives - and understand that one size does not fit all. This combination of technical advisory expertise and our ability to quickly source products allows us to build a more resilient environment within budget and on schedule.

The MOXFIVE Platform

Responding to a cyber-attack requires a wide variety of skills and expertise. Assembling the right team with the skills you need can take time and delay recovery efforts. Working with MOXFIVE solves this problem by providing a “one-stop shop” that covers the full incident response process. From forensics to recovery to resilience, we make it easy to bring together the technologies and expertise needed to manage all the various workstreams through to completion.

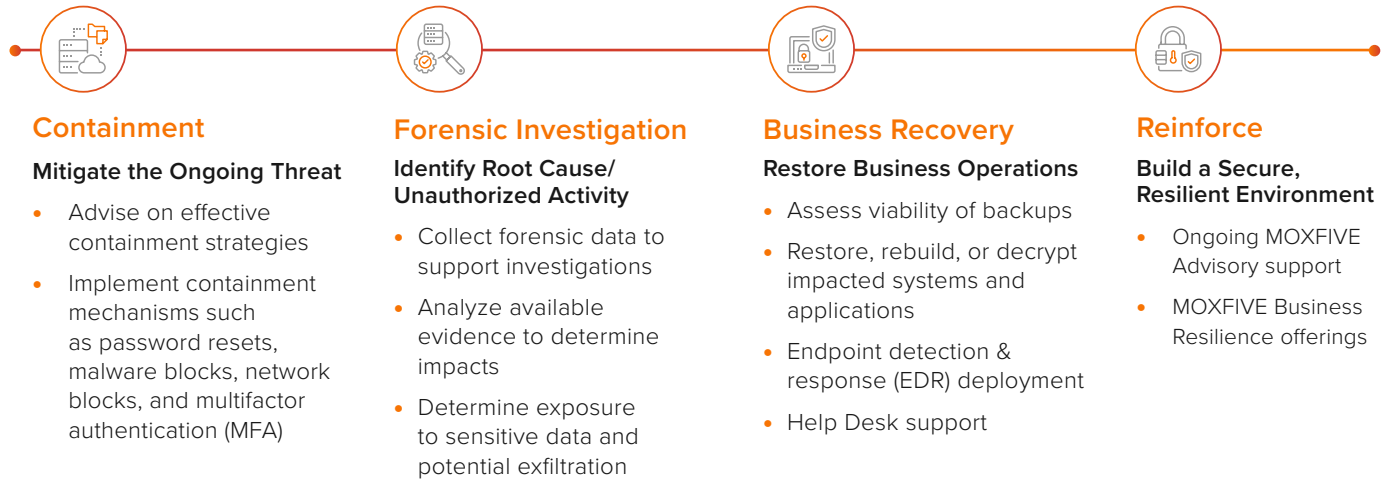

MOXFIVE named
Fastest-Growing
Security Company on
Inc. 5000 List

Inc.5000
N° 1 2023
IND SECURITY

Incident Response

When facing an incident, we provide expertise and guidance – leveraging proven incident management playbooks operationalized within the MOXFIVE Platform and supported by an ecosystem of over 100 specialized partners to deliver rapid, hands-on-keyboard results.

Business Resilience

MOXFIVE helps our clients assess technology gaps - both proactively and post-incident – to enhance operations' resiliency. To address the evolving business landscape, many organizations are realizing that not only do they need a more robust group of technical service providers – they also need someone who can help manage and streamline the selection and implementation process. Our Resilience offerings include:

Advisory Services

IT & Security Strategy

Leverage MOXFIVE Technical Advisors to support development and execution of IT and security initiatives.

Security Services

Develop a security program tailored to your organization.

Retainer Services

Establish an ongoing relationship with MOXFIVE as your “go to” resource for IT and security.

IT Infrastructure

Asset Management

Track and assess IT inventory to optimize procurement decisions and incident response efforts.

Cloud Services

Develop and execute migration and/or optimization of cloud service providers.

Backup Infrastructure & Storage

Implement, manage, and optimize robust backup and data storage solutions.

Managed Services

IT & Security Services

Deploy, manage, and support IT networks and security technology stack.

Security Awareness Training

Practical security education and phishing exercises to reduce riskiest behaviors.

Dark Web Monitoring

Ongoing monitoring for critical information, stolen credentials, and threats targeting your organization.

Security

Priority Controls

Deploy critical security controls including EDR, MFA, network segmentation, and more.

MSSP/MDR

Deploy and monitor technology stack.

Assessments

Understand security gaps and measure improvements over time through penetration testing and other assessment services.

MOXFIVE is a cybersecurity company helping organizations respond to incidents and minimize the risk of future attacks. Over the last decade, our team of experts has helped thousands of businesses respond to major incidents and saw firsthand that there needed to be a better way for organizations to get the technical expertise they need when they need it most. Through a combination of our technical experts and proprietary platform, we bring order to chaos and deliver a tailored incident response approach and resilience-minded path forward for clients of all sizes, faster and more efficiently.

 www.moxfive.com

 (833) 568-6695

 info@moxfive.com